

Does Anything Ever Truly End?

by Enzo Scavone, Summer 2011

I am the universe. I am anything. I don't end.

Everything within me ends.

Nothing within me can be unending for then it would cease to be it and turn out to be me.

I am man. I am something. I end.

Everything around me ends as well for it is something, too.

In my audacity I attempt to be unending -- and cease to be me.